Speed limit of ten miles per hour for cars, pedestrians have the right of way, as if it were one very large zebra crossing stretching a hundred yards in each direction from the station, with a ramp at each entry and paved with cobbles on the road surface and brick for bike lanes on either side.	A nature reserve on the Hither Green Wildemess site adjoining the Hither Green railway sidings the South Circular and the Willows riding school. This would be constructed with community involvement over a period of several years with constant ongoing consultation with the local community and one major aspect would be a forest garden where children from schools and community groups could come in perpetuity and grow food.	The re-opening of the Grove Park Youth Club with a variety of uses of the building including workshops, community garden, dance hall, theatre etc which could also be open at times to people of all ages but would mainly be for the use of young people in the area at the times when they need it and most benefit from it.
